Resolutions to Dr. Steffens

WHEREAS, Dr. Cornelius M. Steffens is about to withdraw from the active presidency of the University of Dubuque, we desire to express our high appreciation of his untiring zeal and unselfish consecration shown throughout his long and successful career as President of this institution; of his uniformly friendly cooperation with the members of the Faculty; of the democratic spirit inculcated in the student body and of his untiring efforts to inspire the University with noble Christian ideals.

¶ Realizing the great difficulties which confronted his efforts after taking up the work twenty-two years ago, and the severity of the struggles through which he passed in late years, we feel constrained to express our admiration of his firm trust in God, his devotion to the ideals of Christian education, and his ever-growing devotion to the best interests of the students gathered here from all parts of the world.

¶ We furthermore desire to place on record our appreciation of the results obtained through his consecrated efforts by which the little school composed of four teachers and a few dozen students has so developed that it is now recognized throughout our land as one of America's standard institutions of higher learning.

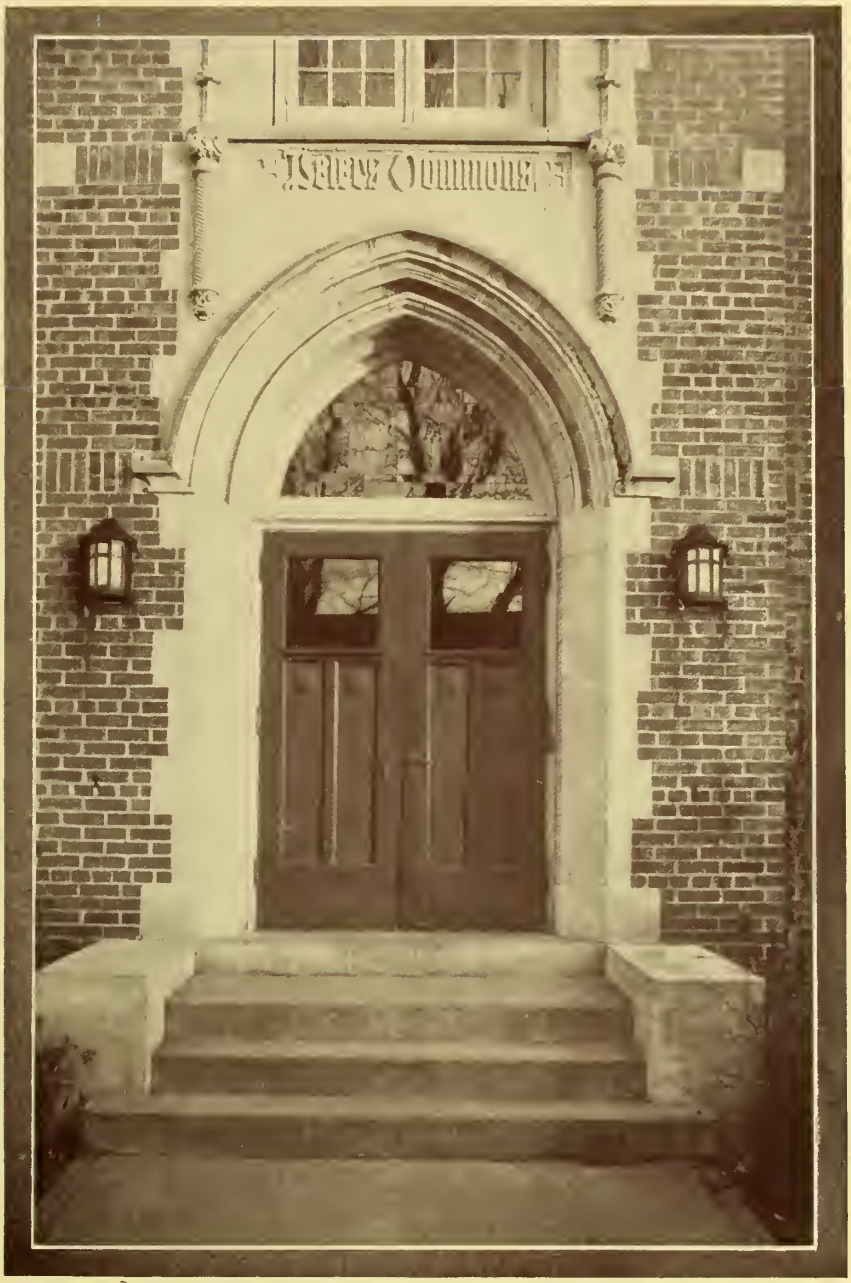

¶ While paying this tribute of respect and admiration for our retiring President, we would not be unmindful of the invaluable assistance given him by Mrs. Steffens, his wife and ever-watchful counselor, of her invariable kindness and courtesy to the members of the Faculty, of her leadership in all things tending to the happiness and comfort of our great University family, and of her unfailing interest in the welfare of every student in the University.

Karl Frederick Wettstone

In 1909, there came to America a sixteen year old lad of an educated family of Genoa, Italy. His father was pastor of the German Lutheran Church in Genoa, while his mother had distinguished herself as an authoress. Karl F. Wettstone had received his elementary education in France and Genoa. The burden of educating four sons becoming too heavy for the father, Karl Wettstone came to America, entering our College in 1909. Four years later he was graduated with an A.B. degree having also achieved the position of Valedictorian. Mr. Wettstone spent the summer of 1913 in Europe, returning in the fall to take up work in our Theological Seminary. Another summer was spent in home missionary work among the Italians in Madison, Wisconsin.

Having been ordained to the Christian ministry in 1916, Rev. Wettstone accepted a call to the Mount Ida Church, at Davenport, Iowa. After two years of faithful service in Davenport, Rev. Wettsttone became pastor of the Sidney Street Church of St. Louis, Missouri. He was doing remarkable work as a true Christian pastor in that place, when the call came from his old Alma Mater. He immediately responded to the call and after much deliberation, found that his duty lay with the University, from which he had received his degree of D.D. in 1922.

In January, 1924, Dr. Karl Frederick Wettstone became the President of our school, the University of Dubuque, when the title of President Emeritus was conferred upon Dr. C. M .Steffens. The career of Dr. Wettstone is high evidence of the service the college and theological seminary of the University of Dubuque can render.

Junior Class History

"It is said that modesty is a jewel, but one may wear too much jewelry."

The Junior class of '24 has outgrown any tendency to indulge in the platitudinous motto of '23, but we still look back with pride to the reputation we established in '21, as being the "peppiest" Freshman class in the University's history. Never shall we forget those first strenuous days, when the cocky upper classmen assumed the arduous duty of taming us, and tried to impose the wearing of the green on some of our good old Low German craniums. No present day Junior girl will ever forget the verdant monstrosities that graced the campus in those balmy days of the fall of 1920; and the marvel to all is that we lost none of our feminine classmates from undue indulgence in alcohol. However, the proverbial worm turned, and if it did not vanquish the enemy, at least gave it more than one scratch to think about. And so we gradually established our position more firmly, and finished the year with the edges considerably smoothed, and many a corner knocked off.

Not at all discouraged by the hardships of our first Freshman days, we returned the next year to take up the cudgels against the crop of poor little Freshies of '21. Needless to say, besides the liberal education we had had leisure to digest during the summer, the originality and dash, charcteristic of our class manifested itself again, much to the detriment of the facial beauty of some of the infant beginners. This time our victory was decisive and complete, and we remained in possession of all that was dearest to us. We also gaze, not without some measure of back slapping at the accomplishments of this year in athletics, forensics, literary societies, "stepping," "kaffie klatching" and various other school activities. It is a matter of history that the first May Queen, and the first maid of Honor in our annual May Fete were both Sophomores, and two of our prominent classmates. Moreover, we add, with pardonable pride, that in the Blue Ribbon Section of the '24 Key four of our Sophomores placed. A Sophomore girl was chosen as the most popular co-ed in the school, and three Sophomore boys were chosen: one as the most versatile athlete, the second as the most original student, and the third as the friendliest student in the University.

Now, at the end of our Junior year, we look in retrospect over the events of the two last semesters. Altho some of our deeds have not been so spectacular as those of the preceding years, they present a very creditable proof of steady up-building. The Junior play, the '25 Annual, as well as a constant support of everything we felt to be for the best interests of our school, have had our co-operation. Now we feel ready to begin on the foundation laid in our Freshman and Sophomore probation period, and to begin the work of substantially adding to the University's ever-increasing influence. The memories of school life, the ideals with which we have become impregnated, close and constant contact with open-minded educators, and above all, a recognition and realization of the tradition of a straightforward dealing with problems, left to us by the classes who have gone before, will always be guiding influences in our future life in the world.

Thus, we stand at the end of one year looking ahead at the beginning of another, ready to add still more to the foundation so firmly laid. The new administration may rest assured, that the Juniors of '24 and the future Seniors of '25 will repay with lasting gifts, the great debt they owe to the University.

Sophomore Class

In the fall of the year 1922 there gathered together in the halls of learning, a group of adventurers. They were everywhere hailed as "Freshies" and made to feel insignificant. Having been taught that in unity there is strength they banded themselves together and chose their leaders. The girls made a beautiful green flag, embellished with the emblem, "26" in white.

About this time there came to their ears murmurings from the Sophomores who were wondering why the youngsters didn't start something. The Freshies then challenged them to a show-down in the form of a football game. Instead of waiting until the contest, this sprightly verdure flew their flag early in the morning. A scrap and controversy ensued. The flag came down and the football game was won by the Sophomores. The Freshmen were obliged to surrender their flag and don green caps and to wear them until homecoming. When the leaves and all nature began to take on autumnal hues, the Freshmen were still flaunting their green.

Gradually they became absorbed in the spirit of the University and became less conspicuous as a body. They began to assert themselves as individuals and came to love their surroundings, their companions and their guides. In the spring they parted with promises to return in the fall.

They then found themselves in a position that their former oppressors had held and gloried in it, entering heartily into all of the activities of their beloved Alma Mater.

Freshmen - Sophomore Conquests

It was with a cordial welcome that new comers and old students greeted one another on the campus of the University last September. Freshmen and Seniors intermingled as though at an old family reunion. But this spirit seemed too good to last and accordingly after a brief period of this peaceful brotherhood signs of class distinction and discrimination began to show evidence. The Freshies, filled with the spirit of pride and arrogance, rallied around the class banner with reluctance. Class officers were elected and ideals were established.

Then came the call of the untamed. Since the beginning of college history that eagerness to do something great and noble, and that immediately, has gripped the heart of every natural Freshman. Humbleness, obedience, and respect for elders are the last words in the vocabulary of such a class. At the first meeting of the class, plans were laid for the hoisting of a class banner as an indication of open defiance of the upper classes. But in the mean time the Sophomores began to show signs of action, too. Realizing the reign of terror that these undaunted and rampant Freshies might wreak if they were not put into immediate subjection, and having received a definition of their duties as campus police, the Sophs took upon themselves the arduous task of marshalling this unruly class. Rules of behavior and conduct, together with an order to display the characteristic green were issued to the Freshman class for immediate compliance. The result was that open warfare ensued between the two classes.

The clouds of storm that had been gathering for several days finally broke when the Freshman president was kidnapped one afternoon as he was calmly wending his way to a very important class meeting. Like a mighty king he was ushered into a waiting Ford by four stalwart and gallant gentlemen, however not without some manifestation of physical power on his part, and taken into the nearby country to ease his mind of the burdens and responsibilities that weighed heavily upon his shoulders. This open insult on the part of the Sophs kindled the smouldering embers of wrath in the breasts of the Freshman and for a while it seemed that the little Ford had met its doom. Men sallied forth valiantly to protect their cherished president but at length gasoline power predommated over human power and the ride into the country followed. With even less ceremony than that which characterized his entry into the "Lizzie," Poncel, the president, was dumped off on a lonely wayside and left to his fate. Useless to say, the Freshman class did not hold its meeting that day.

However, human obstinacy is difficult to conquer and the class determined upon revenge. An ultimatum was served on the Sophs. Then followed two weeks of the most strenuous and bloody clashes between the two classes. Evening studies were thrown aside and secret gatherings were evident everywhere. The culmination of such gatherings took place when one evening the two classes met around Severance Hall for the final showdown. The Sophs had determined to subjugate the Freshies that night no matter what the cost. Accordingly a hand to hand and free for all fight was launched in which torn shirts and muddy faces played an important part. But again the Sophs' plans were frustrated and after a lengthy tussle the two factions called a period of truce during which to arbitrate the subject of disagreement. It seemed as though there had been a misunderstanding among the two classes. After a brief meeting the following morning the Freshman class, with the exception of a few, realizing their folly, resolved upon compliance with the rules as set down by the Sophomores. The few that resolved to remain obstinate to the bitter end were finally convinced of their errors when the Court for Disobedient Freshmen took up its official function of spanking and other forms of discipline.

Thus, the Freshman class of 1923-1924 learned its precious lesson and subjected itself to the guidance of the more experienced, but they were never conquered and never shall be.

Coach (to Wiedner turning out for football)—"What experience have you had before?"
Joe—"Well, this summer I was hit by two autos and a truck."

Prof.—"Now, will you please tell me what the lesson is for today?"
Schapp—"I am a freshman, how can you expect me to know so much?"

AN EASY ONE

Prof.—"Give for one year the number of tons of coal shipped out of the United States."
Hucker—"1492, none."

Gifford—"Don't you think The Blue and White is a first-class little paper?"
Kelso—"Yes; but I guess it isn't, for the paper itself says it is entered at the post-office at Dubuque, Iowa, as Second Class Matter."

Peddler—"Can I sell you a vacuum cleaner?"
Jess Graves—"No, I use Ivory Soap."

PUT SALT ON THEIR TAILS

Thelma—"Have you read 'To a Field Mouse'?"
Joe—"No, how do you get 'em to listen?"

Frederick Kretschmer—"Father, may I go down town?"
Father (looking at calendar)—"Let's see, what date is this?"
Frederick (blushing)—"Only my first."

Prof. Oldt—"Who was that famous Carthaginian general?"
Hunsinger—"Cannibal!!!!!"

Summer School at the

Of all beautiful places there is none more lovely than our own Alma Mater in summer. The air is fragrant with the breath of flowers, and birds trill out a cheerful greeting to the suit case laden, happy looking individuals who come to take work in summer school; for they really do work although it is not at all the old solemn sort of work some people think. Perhaps it is more nearly correct to say that work is accomplished by summer school students while they play.

Doctor French's classes took many interesting trips collecting materials for class room use. Usually there was a picnic luncheon and no end of fun. aside from the general good times enjoyed by the students as a whole there were many outings in smaller groups to the parks, the bathing beach, or various other points of interest.

The Botany class took frequent short hikes to "Catfish," "Rabbit Hollow," and other near-by places where flowers were abundant. Longer trips were made by auto or on the street cars. On two different occasions the classes drove to "Cedar Hollow" near Epworth, and after an afternoon of collecting and studying the plants of that most interesting place they all sat down about the camp fire to a supper of fried chicken, salads, cake, coffee, ice cream and other good things.

University of Dubuque

Several times during the summer the Entomology class went "Sugaring" for moths. Armed with lanterns, flash lights, the "sugaring" pail and well filled lunch baskets, they made their way to a favorable spot near the University. After "painting" a number of trees with the sugar mixture a fire was built and supper prepared. Between trips to examine the trees for night flying moths the time was spent telling stories and toasting marshmallows. Any field trip was excuse enough for "eats" of some kind. It is no wonder that they were popular.

An exceptionally happy day was the anniversary of the wedding of Doctor and Mrs. Mount, when a perfectly wonderful wedding breakfast was given in their honor at Eagle Point Park by the summer school students. Everyone was having such a good time that it was not possible to get back in time for classes that morning.

But with all the good times the summer school students accomplished much work which was well worth while. Some made up deficiencies in high school or college subjects; some who had not taken the necessary amount of work in education were in this way able to meet the requirements of the State Board of Education and obtain their state certificates, thus qualifying for teaching positions in the fall; others by means of the summer sessions have been able to finish their college course in three years instead of four. Take it all together teachers and pupils all felt that it was a summer well spent.

The Year in the Theological Seminary

Concerning the work in the Seminary during the year just closing, it may be said that it has gone on quietly and in a strong way, without any extraordinary happenings. An excellent spirit has prevailed; the average of scholarship in the student-body has been markedly superior and a high level of devotion has been sustained.

The year's work began, and was ably carried through, with an enlarged faculty. The decision of the Board two years since that the Seminary faculty do Seminary work exclusively, has been of incalculable advantage to the Seminary. It has enabled the faculty not only to offer the courses usually offered in Schools of Theology, but also to give these courses with greater thoroughness, greater attention to details, and some attempts at research work. All of this has been appreciated by the students.

Very noticeable is the advance made by our Seminary toward realizing the ideals of Seminary instruction suggested by our General Assembly's Committee on Theological Seminaries.

The question before this Committee was as to the qualifications demanded of Seminary graduates to enable them to measure up to the requirements of the modern church. On investigation it was found that the curricula of most of our Seminaries are the most static of all educational institutions. To quote at random from the Committee's report as presented in the Minutes of the General Assembly for 1923; "Many graduates (of our Seminaries) are scarcely aware of the existence of relationships of the modern city pastor to the large program of religious education has not yet had serious and earnest consideration at the hands of faculties." * * Still again—"There is a wide-spread belief that the theological Seminary of today is not rendering the service the Church needs, and that as an institution it does not represent the Spirit of the Church." * * These are thought-provoking statements. They contain a charge and a challenge. We of Dubuque Seminary are happy to be able to say that courses in the Social Teachings of our Lord have in the past few years been given in connection with the work in Practical Theology, that such courses have called attention to the message of Jesus to our modern life; to the attitude of Jesus toward the various interests of life; to the principles which governed His intercourse with men; and all this with the constant aim and effort to discover what bearing these principles have upon our modern world, what solution they present of our modern social problems.

With reference to the second charge, viz.: that "the large field of religious education has not yet had serious and earnest attention at the hands of faculties"—we of Dubuque Seminary are happy to be able to say that we need not plead guilty. For several years the subject of Religious Education has had a conspicuous place in our curriculum. Courses have been given on the Principles, Purpose, Problems and Methods of Religious Education; the History of Christian Education with its ideals and methods within organized Christianity, has been studied with thoroughness, and opportunities have been offered for practical work with a view to the discovery and demonstration of efficient methods in the field of religious education. The courses thus given not only meet the needs of prospective pastors and missionaries, but also afford adequate preparation for those whose life-work is to be that of Directors of Education and Business-Managers of activities in local churches.

Thus may we say that Dubuque Seminary in a measure, has anticipated the suggestions of our General Assembly's Committee, and is increasingly aiming to render the very service the Church of the present day needs.

Students in Dubuque Seminary have the inestimable advantage of pursuing their theological studies in a college atmosphere, with all the privileges of a College of Liberal Arts open to them. Here in daily contact with College students they are face to face with all the problems with which they will have to deal in the active ministry later on among the more thoughtful of their parishioners. Here the doubts and difficulties in matters of faith are daily topics of discussion and conversation. Here faith is clarified and confirmed; here strength is stored up for future battles.

Here, too, they have the opportunities of further study in College subjects, such as Philosophy, Literature, History, etc., a deeper knowledge of which will serve them well in years to come.

In former days a theological education was obtained in monasteries and cloisters. Among Protestants to a considerable extent in institutions located in remote places, hidden corners far removed from the turmoil and tumult, also far removed from the needs of this busy world. Today men have learned that to become fitted for service to one's fellow-men, one must study the needs of men at first hand, one must be in the world and know what the world is thinking and doing, and to this end our Seminary is well located in a busy, thriving, typical mid-western city, and in closest relation with a College of Liberal Arts. Here in Dubuque one may study humanity as such—the rich are here and the poor; employers and employed—every form of industry is represented. Here, too, are Christian institutions—churches large and small—missionary churches and strong self-supporting churches—Sunday Schools, Hospitals, Y. M. C. A., Boys' Clubs—every form of Christian activity, in any or all of which the theological student may exercise his gifts and gain experience for service in later years, and thus to go forth from school at last "thoroughly furnished," theoretically and practically, "for every good word and work."

Board of Directors, Faculty, Students—let us all cooperate heartily to make our Seminary the outstanding institution for religious learning in the great Mississippi Valley!

There are not many schools in the United States for the pursuance of graduate work in Theology, leading to an academic degree of graduate rank. The University of Dubuque is one of these institutions and its Graduate School of Theology is the youngest of the schools connected with it. The need for such a school was apparent and the experience of the past two summers justify the best hopes for its future usefulness and prosperity.

The school is organized on an inter-denominational basis; several denominations are represented in its faculty as well as in its student body. The faculty consists of men, who in their respective denominations have had a long and honorable record as teachers of the various theological disciplines. Among them is Rev. Melvin G. Kyle, D.D., Ph.D., the president of Zenia Theological Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, of the United Presbyterian Church, who is at present in the Orient, engaged in archaeological exploration in Mesopotamia. Dr. Kyle is the author of several important books on Biblical Archaeology and Criticism.

Another member of the faculty, Rev. Charles B. Williams, D.D., Ph.D., is one of the leading theologians of the Southern Baptist Church, and professor of New Testament Science in Mercer University, Macon, Georgia.

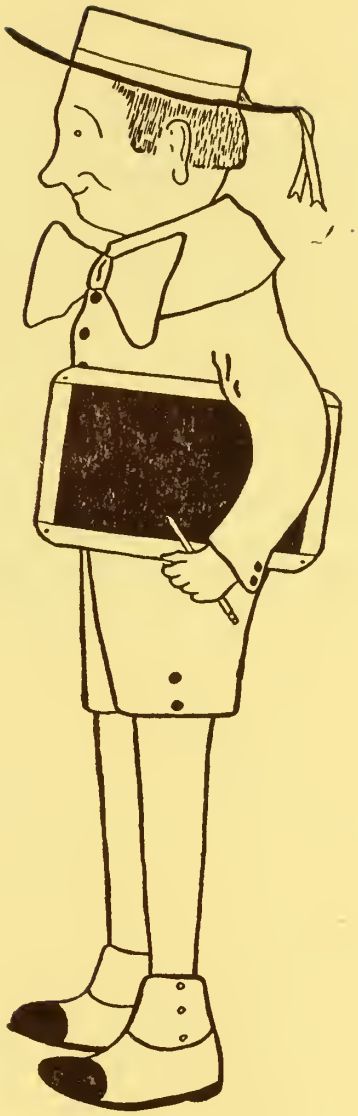

A student member, Prof. H. B. Dana, Th.D., together with Prof. I. R. Mautey, Th.D., both of Forth Worth, Texas, published a valuable "Manual of New Testament Greek" during this year, and presented a copy to the Library of the University.

The student body of the Graduate School is made up of ministers, who not only had earned their A.B. degree, but also are graduates of recognized theological seminaries. Some of them came from points far distant from Dubuque; they are a body of picked men, who are ambitious to pursue serious work, and to fit themselves for the service of the Kingdom. A large proportion of them are teachers in various institutions of higher learning.

Two candidates received the degree of Ph.D., at the Convocation of June, 1923. They were Rev. Robert T. Drysdale, of Rochester, New York, and Rev. Charles R. Murray, a missionary from Persia, temporarily sojourning in the United States. Dr. Murray had been engaged for several years in the educational work in Persia and is on the verge of returning to his great and needy field.

At the close of the last session, August, 1923, the Ph.D. degree was conferred on Rev. William Boyer, the successful pastor of the Marlborough Heights Presbyterian Church at Kansas City, Missouri, and on Rev. George Sylvester Sutton, now of Lincoln, Illinois, an acknowledged expert in Religious Education who before going to France as a Y. M. C. A. leader, had made a most efficient demonstration of the practical benefit of Religious Education for the upbuilding of the church.

Before the close of last summer's session, the student members of the Graduate School organized themselves into an asociation, named the Association of Graduate Students of the University of Dubuque, for the purpose of promoting its interests, and to contribute in every way toward its increased usefulness and growth.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of 1924, of the University of Dubuque High School, being of sound and disposing mind and memory, do hereby declare this document to be our official last will and testament.

I. To the faculty we bequeath our extraordinary record in the classroom, together with the privilege of setting it up as an example of everything that is laudable and brilliant.

II. To the Juniors we leave our ability to conduct class meetings properly and settle vital questions without any struggle or riots.

III. To the Sophomores we give our worldliness and dignity that they may never be mistaken for freshmen.

IV. To the Freshmen we leave our success and prominence in scholastic and social circles that our example and achievements may prove an inspiration to them.

V. To Carl Poglodich, the gentlemen of the class bequeath "peace" that he may dwell unmolested by underclassmen.

VI. The Girls of the class leave the front row of seats in Columbian to Myra Rogers, to be ocupied by herself and friends.

Moreover, as individuals we do leave our talents, belongings, and defects as follows:

1. Corney Janssen to Dan Simon, my athletic aspirations.
2. Mabel Newman to Bertha Kifer, my line with the men and my Sheba ways.
3. Huntington Chao to Bill Herrin, my famous grin.
4. Catherine Yu to Ruth Kim, my vamping ways.
5. Louis Dugar to Daniel Campos, my oft' expounded but seldom understood philosophy.
6. Dorothy Tsang to Tuksil Wee, my interest in John Lim.
7. Mike Szucs leaves his good opinion of himself to Jerry Thaden.
8. Phila Fracker leaves her coy and demure manner to Virginia Young.
9. Irvine King to Lloyd Doerflinger, his ability to bluff.
10. Mabel Miller to Anna May French, my shorn locks, hoping that they will not evoke the righteous indignation of her fond parent, our worthy prof.
11. Michael Tomasula to Raul Ramus, my skull-cap.

ATHLETICS

"Fight, Dubuque, Fight for Victory"

is the call of every Dubuque supporter. Victory has been the aim and during the past year this aim has been realized in achievement. Our teams have seen victory as well as defeat and of the victories we are justly proud. But there is something higher that thrills us, something greater that makes us proud that we are sons and daughters of Dubuque. It is our unblemished, even unchallenged reputation for clean sportsmanship. We'll tell of the might of our athletes; we'll spread far and wide the fame of our coaches; we'll regard championships won as ambitions accomplished. But we will ever cherish above all else that far-famed Dubuque spirit which requires us to play the game, play hard, but with victory only when victory is deserved; and with this ideal we shall ever point to laurels won as laurels earned. Clean sportsmanship is the God before which we all bow.

TEE—Taking advantage of every opportunity for gains which were offered by his team-mates, Bill carried the ball for more touch-downs than any other man. He captained the team in admirable style.

WOLFE—Although playing his first year as regular guard, Fritz held his position like an old-timer.

The Football Season

Coaches Chalmers and Peterson started drilling theUniversity football squad on the first day of school in September. Before them was the hardest schedule of games that had ever been arranged for the Blue and White. Scrimmage started barely a week after the opening of the school year for the first game was only three weeks away. This game, with the Des Moines University "Tigers" was one of the hardest that Dubuque had during the season. Des Moines came out on top, 26 to 0, but the Blue and White was greatly handicapped by their lack of experienced men and by the heavy, muddy field. The rain fell in torrents during parts of the game.

This game showed the coaches the weak spots and they were corrected so that Dubuque trounced the strong De Paul University eleven, 55 to 0 on the following Saturday. The boys all played like demons and nothing sould stop them.

On the following Friday, October 12, the team, accompanied by some fifty or sixty rooters, journeyed through a sea of mud to battle the fast State Teachers eleven at Cedar Falls. Due to the mud and various accidents, the team arrived on the field some time later than the game was scheduled to start. Overcoming a six point lead in the second half and scoring two touchdowns won the game for Dubuque.

Then came the greatest game of the season — Coe. Coe had held the University of Wisconsin eleven to one touch-down and everyone was expecting Coe to score heavily over Dubuque. Great was the surprise when the Blue and White fought them to almost a scoreless tie, Coe scored one touchdown on a "fluke."

The next Saturday the team and fans were very disappointed when Luther beat us 16 - 13, on our homecoming day. The "Swedes" deserve much credit for their fine playing throughout the season.

Campion College was next and while they fought hard, our boys handed them a neat 14 - 0 lacing.

There followed nearly three weeks of drilling with no game until Thanksgiving day when the highly touted Valparaiso University team was played at Valparaiso, Indiana.

They had defeated some of the strongest teams of the Middle West and the best that was hoped for was a low score. Great indeed was the rejoicing when the news reached Dubuque that the game had ended with the score the same as when begun, 0 - 0.

This ended the season with rather a good record for the Blue and White. There were three victories, one tie and four defeats. Although Dubuque did not win all her games, we held the strongest teams of the Middle West to very low scores.

BASKET BALL SQUAD

(Standing)—Baumann, Rebol, Jansen, Johannsen, Wieland.
(Sitting)—Coach Peterson, McAleece, Tee, Capt. Sims, Wilson, Malin.

Basket Ball Season

With the hardest schedule ever arranged for a University of Dubuque basket-ball team, a squad of about thirty men reported for practice on the first of December. Coach Peterson first gave the squad the elementary drills for passing and pivoting. After about two weeks of intensive practice, the squad was cut to approximately fifteen men including the following: Captain Sims, Malin and Tee, three letter men of the previous year, and Wilson, Tab. Jansen, Wieland, Baker, Graves, Rebol, Killian, E. Jansen, McAleece, Bauman and Johannsen.

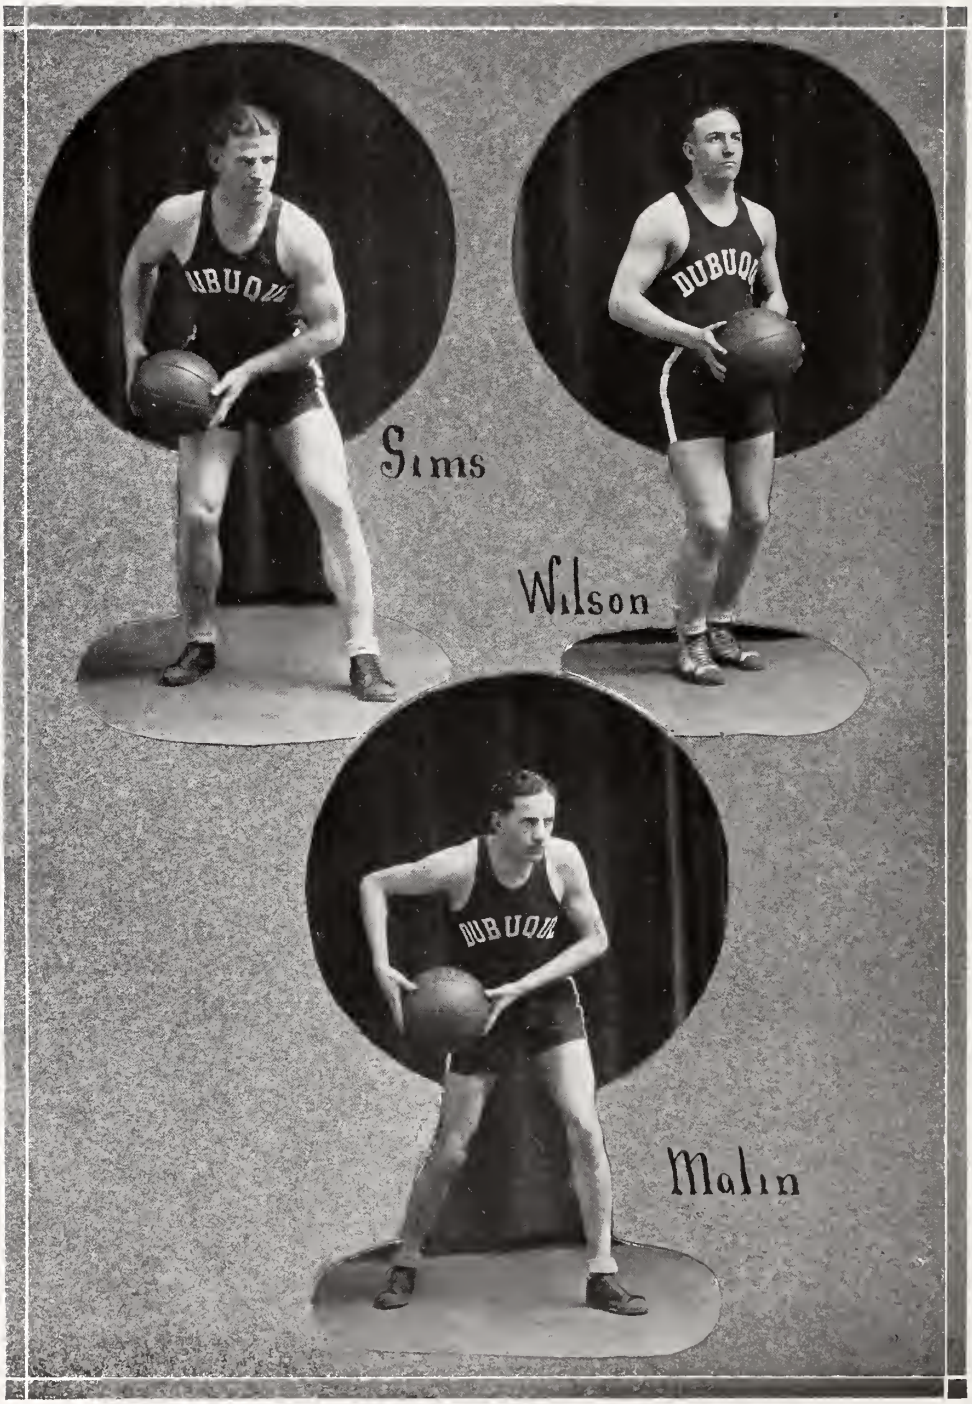

This squad was driven hard for the two weeks just preceding the Christmas vacation, in order to be ready for the first game which came only four days after the vacation ended. Very shortly the competition for positions was seen to be one-sided for four positions, Sims and Wilson at guards and Malin at forward plainly demonstrating their superiority over the other aspirants for the team, and Tee also being practically assured of a place at center. This left the other forward position open with Bauman, Wieland, Baker and Graves as the most likely contenders for it. Baker who was expected to rank far above his competitors was forced out of the race because of an injured knee, while Graves after playing one or two days contracted pneumonia. Bauman was at last chosen as starter for the fifth position with Wieland, Graves and Rebol as alternatives. Three freshmen who were ineligible for the first semester competition were also used in practice and later were used considerably in the games. Two of these, Jansen and McAleece proved to be valuable men while Johannsen was good as utility man.

The first game came on January 7, with the Wisconsin School of Mines. The outcome was never in doubt after the first few minutes. Dubuque, although handicapped by numerous substitutions won by a score of 24 - 12.

The second game was to be played with Lawrence College, a team whom Dubuque had never met before. They came with such a high reputation from the year before that it was doubted if Dubuque could win but in the fastest game of the season the Blue and White nosed out a 16 - 14 victory.

The game with Luther, or the "Swedes," as we know them, was the third game on the home floor that week. With CAPTAIN SIMS was our giant guard. Tiny played his positon in a superb fashion and because of his excellent work he was placed on the third All-State team. Sims was re-elected to captain the 1924-25 squad and with his return the prospects for a record season are already being looked forward to.

DON WILSON with three more college years of basketball experience to his credit will make a unique and enviable record for the basketeers of the state to shoot at. Don in his first year of college basketball made the third All-State team and with coming season a great deal is expected of him. Don tied Malin for scoring honors for the season with a total of 42 field goals and 29 free throws. This made 113 points for each man.

CLIFF MALIN although handicapped by illness did wonderfully well and through his keen eye for the basket gave Wilson a stiff and close race for individual honors. Malin scored 43 field goals and 27 free throws during the season. Cliff will be back next year and with his return the outlook for a banner year looms brighter.

BILL TEE will be the only member of the squad to be lost by graduation. His loss will greatly hamper the team, as Bill is a rangy fellow and plays his center position well. In the games he has played in he has outjumped his rival pivot-men.

EZRA or "TAB" JANSEN earned his position through hard work and steady playing. Tab is only a Freshman and great things are expected in the coming season. Tab played guard.

GERALD McALEECE through hard and concentrated effort won his letter in the latter part of the season as he is a Freshman. Mac showed his ability as a player against the fast Beloit team when he made three field goals against two highly reputed guards. He is a fast floor man and a heady player. He will also be back next year.

HAROLD BAUMANN was our smallest regular. Harold plays a forward position and deserves a great deal of credit for his wonderful showing. He is a fighter all the way through and it was his playing that enabled the team to get away to a good start. Harold is eligible for several years and with his return Coach Peterson will have a veteran crew to start with.

BASKET BALL SEASON

the entire team rather tired from the previous games, Luther managed to take the lead throughout the first half and it wasn't until near the middle of the last half that Dubuque succeeded in overcoming the lead. The game ended with Dubuque the victor by a score of 25 - 21.

After this glorious start it was expected that the boys would easily win from Coe and Cornell the next week. In two close games, Dubuque, stricken with her old malady, the inability to make baskets which were practically set-ups, lost first to Coe and the next night to Cornell. Directly responsible for these defeats was the illness of Malin, from which he never, throughout the season, fully recovered, for although he took part in both of these games, he failed to score his customary points which would have been more than enough to win both games.

Then followed a string of defeats which were caused partly by the staleness of the team and partly because of the unusual strength of some of the teams met. The list included defeats at the hands of Beloit, Midwest Champions for three years, Campion, Valparaiso, Loyola and Chicago Y. M. C. A. College.

After an eight day rest the team showed their determination by defeating the rebuilt Coe team in the most exciting game of the season by a score of 27 - 26.

Next came Valparaiso with a string of twenty or more victories to her credit. Dubuque gave Valpo one of their hardest battles but lost 22 - 28.

Beloit came next with her wonder team and although running up the largest score against Dubuque of any team, was forced to the limit by the Blue and White who played their best brand of basket-ball, losing 35 - 49.

With three games scheduled for the next week the team met Luther at Decorah and was defeated 9 - 16. The next night at Campion, Dubuque avenged their previous defeat with an unexpected (by Campion) trouncing, 27 - 16.

The season ended, as it started, in a blaze of glory for Dubuque, with an overwhelming defeat of Cornell who came to Dubuque confident of repeating their first victory. The score was 43 - 31.

The season was called successful, although only six games were won, because of the manner in which the team, after losing so many games, fought on and at last ended the season by defeating three of the teams which they liked most to beat.

MEISKE—In the pole vault and the mile relay "Mike" shows the most promise of any man on the squad.

JANSEN, E. (Captain Elect)—Cheese ran away with everything which called for speed. He was the largest point getter of the season.

TEE SIMS MALIN BRUECHERT

TEE—Bill consistently contributed his share of the points in each meet.

SIMS—An all around track man, Tiny starred in the weight events setting up new records in the shot and discus throw. He also did good work in the high jump and relay.

MALIN—A new man at the pole vault, Malin consistently topped the bar with the best of his opponents. He also took his share of the points in the high jump.

BRUECHERT—Running the low hurdles and in the mile relay team Stanley put in a successful first season.

Track—Season 1923

Long before outdoor spring training for the track season was possible Coach Peterson began putting the gym classes through strenuous exercises to harden the men for the grind of that sport. When the call for aspirants to the track team was made, about forty men responded, most of them green material. There were only four men, Urbach, Beran, Tee, and Corell, who had previous experience sufficient to dub them regulars. Captain Bradfield was incapacitated nearly the whole season with an injured knee and Fred Peterson on account of ill health, however, the latter managed to help us out in the high hurdles in the meet against State Teachers.

About a week before our first meet Coach Peterson took the boys out of doors for some real stiff workouts. At first it seemed as if there would be no one to take Army's place in many of the events but just as necessity is the mother of invention so it was with our various events. Meiske and Malin appeared to uphold the prestige of Armstrong in the pole vault. Beran was assisted in the distance races by Wharton, Hayenga, and Oglukian.

Our first meet was with Coe on Kane Heights on April 19 in a steady pour of rain. This did not stop the completion of the meet but retarded the speed in the races and shortened the distances in the field events. Coe took the meet defeating us by a score of 98 to 38.

We succeeded in defeating the Platteville Normals in our second meet which was held on Kane Heights on May 5. The elements did not hinder us this time so we were able to send them home with a beating, 89 to 49.

On May 18 we journeyed to Cedar Falls where we met the Tutor's team the next day. During the whole meet we were favored with intermittent showers. Here we met our second and last defeat of the season 94 to 42.

The day after the last classes of the school year the track team travelled to Decorah to meet Luther College on June 2. This was our red letter day in more than one way. "Cheese" Jansen took firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and also in the high and low hurdles besides being an important factor in enabling the relay team to win the half-mile relay. At this meet three of the school's previous records were broken. Although this was "Tiny" Sims' first year in track he broke the shot record with a heave of 39 feet 1 inch and also the discus record hurling the plate a distance of 119 feet 5 inches. Urbach clipped off 3/5 of a second from Beran's half-mile record, making it in 2 minutes 11 2/5 seconds. Earlier in the season Walt sheared 2/5 of a second from his own quarter mile record, bringing it down to 52 2/5 seconds. The meet with Luther was our greatest success and we reversed the score of the State Teachers' meet trouncing them 94 to 42.

"U" Club

The "U" Club is an organization in the University High School, in which only those who have earned the letter "U" in some athletic sport during their High School course can become members. The "U" Club was organized in 1921. It is the most important High School organization and corresponds to the "D" Club of the College. It has not been doing all of the work it should do but we are sure that next year it will not fail to act when it has the chance. Because of its late organization we cannot expect that it will be able to do as much work as an organization that has been functioning for several years.

At the present time the "U" Club has a membership of sixteen active members and one honorary member. This Club will prove to be an important and influential instrument in the High School department of the University if it is but given a fair chance. There is and we expect that there will be in the future a hearty co-operation among the members of the "U" Club.

(Middle Row)—Arostegui, Menendez, S. Trojar, Manigan, King.
(Sitting)—Tomasula, A. Trojar, Maldonado, Del Barrio, Dushney, Thaden, Chao.

CHOY PATTON BJURGSTROM

CHOY—H. B.—Choy was always in the midst of the fight and always emerged smiling.

PATTON—Q. B. Captain—The morale of the team depended upon "Chief's" presence. He was himself a good ground gainer and punter.

BJURGSTROM—F. B.—It was a good line that could resist Bjurgstrom's hard-hitting attacks.

JANSSEN TOMASULA CHAO

JANSSEN—H. B.—Janssen was a consistent player giving all he had at all times.

TOMASULA—E.—Tomasula was a good defensive player, tackling his opponents before they got started.

CHAO—E.—As a new-comer to the game, Chao showed great ability.

MALDONADO DEL BARRIO DUSHNEY

MALDONADO—G.—Always to be depended upon to do his best.

DEL BARRIO—C.—Del Barrio was also a new man at this game, but did his share at all times.

DUSHNEY—G.—Dushney held his position against the best line-men who faced him, in an able manner.

THADEN TROJAR

THADEN—T.—Jerry was the mainstay of his side of the line.

TROJAR—T.—He was feared by all of his opponents.

Academy Football

When the call was given to the Academy men to report for football practice prospects looked quite encouraging. There were seven letter men from the previous year and with these men as a nucleus about which to build and with two full teams on the field Coach Bradfield set out to develop a team. The veterans reporting were Captain Patton, Thaden, Janssen, Szucs, Choy, Bjustrom and Maldonado.

After several weeks of hard practice the team was sent against Manchester High School for the first game of the season. With several green men in the line and backfield the team fought bravely but were defeated 21 to 0. In this game Mike Szucs received an injury to his shoulder which eliminated him from the game for the entire season.

With Szucs missing from the backfield it was necessary to shift the line-up again. After trying out several men, Choy was placed at half. With only three days remaining the hardest game of the season Captain Patton became unable to play, necessitating the developing of a new quarter-back. Janssen, being the only man capable of taking the place, was played at quarter and Arostegui took his place at left half.

The Prep team was considerably out-weighed at Campion, and due to this fact coupled with the Campion team's greater experience and better team work, they lost by a score of 51 to 0.

The boys, although being badly beaten, immediately started training for their game with Xavier High of Dyersville to be played at Dubuque. This was the final game of the season and the team was prepared to fight their hardest.

Patton again was in the line-up when the team met Xavier. This gave the Preps confidence and they fought the Dyersville team on even terms during the first half, which ended with the score tied. The game ended with Xavier holding the large end of the score 19 to 6.

Although the Academy boys lost all their games, they never lost their spirit of hope or the "Old Dubuque Fight."

While several members of this year's team, Tomasula, King, Sucs, Choy and Janssen will be lost thru graduation, the prospects for a good team next year look good. With Jerry Thaden as Captain the 1924 squad will have an able leader.

Academy Basketball

On November 26, Coach Bradfield's call for basket-ball material was responded to by the appearance of twenty aspiring candidates. Every prospect for the team displayed excelient spirit, despite the fact that the practice periods were usually immediately after the supper hour.

There was quite a problem confronting our new coach because of the loss of all but two men of last year's squad. Of the twenty men that turned out to practice, less than half of them had any actual basket ball experience.

Although the U. H. S. squad of 1924 was not a winning team the boys displayed a grim determination that never lacked gameness. Most of the squad will be back next year and we hope to have a winning team as a result of the coaching of Mr. Bradfield, to whom we must give the credit for building a team with 100 per cent. fighting spirit.

The U. H. S. quintet played ten games during the season. Following is a brief review of some of the games.

The initial game of the season was played with the East Dubuque High five. The team fought hard but lost 7 to 9.

On January 12, our boys met the Manchester High quintet and snatched away a victory with a score of 22 to 13. The Dubuque squad outplayed their speedy opponents and were in the lead throughout the game.

The game with the Dubuque High School Reserves was another hard fought game. Both teams showed considerable skill in cage work. The Dubuque High team won the contest by a score of 16 - 6. Our boys played a good defensive game, but were a bit slow on their offensive work.

Playing their last scheduled game of the season, the U. H. S. cagers bowed in defeat to the strong Xavier High team at their "gym" in Dyersville, by a very close score of 18 - 14. It was won in the last few minutes of play and although our team was defeated it was a splendid game throughout and was a fitting game with which to end the season.

U. H. S. Base Ball

As soon as the weather permitted, the call was issued to the University High School baseball men for their first practice. With Graves, Patton, Choy and Captain Szucs as a nucleus, Coach Powell started work to build a team to represent the U. H. S.

After a few weeks of hard practice, Coach Powell took his team to Dyersville where they played their first game of the season against Xavier High School. It was a hard fought and close game from start to finish and Xavier won, 3 to 2.

The next game the University High School played was at Dubuque with Guttenberg High School as their opponents. With additional practice the Dubuque team showed up well and sent the Guttenberg team home defeated and much disappointed at their failure to beat Dubuque. The score was 8 to 1.

With one victory and one defeat the team went out to practice with the sole purpose of getting into shape to win their remaining game which was a return match with Guttenberg up the river. Dubuque won again, 5 to 3. Captain Szucs starred in this game with a home run to his credit.

The season ended with two victories and one defeat. The University High School will lose one of their best men when Graves graduates. To him is due much of the credit of the successful season both in baseball and in the other sports as well.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association was organized at the beginning of the school year of 1922-23 by girls who had won letters in basketball the preceding year. The purpose is "To promote a higher efficiency in Women's Athletics at the University of Dubuque."

Any girl of the College department having an average of "C" is eligible for membership providing that she earns 500 points according to the point system, thus winning an Old English "D."

The first annual girls' track meet was held in May, 1923. Although not a very large number of girls entered it was a success considering that it was the first of its kind. The events of the meet were: 100 yard dash, 50 yard dash, quarter mile run, quarter mile walk, baseball throw, high jump, and standing broad jump. Winona Hayenga was the high point girl.

Much enthusiasm was shown this year among the girls for swimming. Due to "Red's" patience many beginners learned both to swim and dive. Mrs. Fitzpatrick of Dubuque had charge of advanced swimmers and taught fancy diving.

Although not as many girls as were expected worked for "D's" this year, the W. A. A. has done much to make girls' sports more popular in the University.

Girls' Basketball

The Girls' Basketball Season of 1923-24 at the University proved rather a disappointment due to the fact that only one regular game was played and unfortunately this was lost. However, many girls turned out for the practises and the team was characterized by its pep and fight.

During March, Coach "Bill" Bogue, an alumnus of the University and a former W. A. A. girl, brought her speedy team from East Dubuque High School to avenge a defeat of the previous year. The line-up for Dubuque was as follows: Reinagle and Maxwell, forwards; Grieder and Malin, running and jumping centers; and Adelman (Capt.) and Fritschel, guards.

The University girls got the ball on the tip off and it remained in their territory most of the time during the first quarter. Although many shots were tried, Dubuque failed to score. During the next quarter the ball went from side to side and the East Dubuque girls showed some of their speed. They caged one field basket and one free throw. The score at the end of the half stood 3 - 0 in their favor.

The "U" girls came back with pep and their old-time fighting spirit and soon Reinagle had caged a pretty basket, receiving the ball from a long pass from the enemy's quarter. A trifle later she made a free throw tieing the score 3 - 3.

The East Dubuque girls soon gained two more points but the "U" guards tightened up in their defense and no more points were gained in the third quarter.

Due to the close guarding on both sides no points were scored for some time but finally one of the East Dubuque girls broke through the defense and made an accurate shot from the division line. Dubuque scored two more points from free throws but failed to cage any more field baskets. The game ended with the score of 7 - 5 in East Dubuque's favor.

The girls who came out to practise regularly but did not make the first team should not be forgotten. They worked diligently and faithfully( giving the first string girls good stiff competition. Those girls are: Thelma Hauritz, Winona Hayenga, Lilliam Nieter, Margaret Kelso, Louise and Edythe Wessels and Gertrude Apel.

Philophronia

"Youth will be served" does not hold good in reference to our society, Philophronia, as it is the oldest organization on the campus, but vigorous and versatile as never before. Our lofty ideals and high aspirations which are first, to maintain the spirit of Philophronia's wonderful past; second, to cultivate the highest literary tastes, and third, to uphold the highest social ideals of our beloved Alma Mater, are obvious indicators of a more illustrious and glorious future for our society.

Philophronia is reputed as being the most cosmpolitan society on the campus as it is represented by members from various climes and extreme parts of the globe. This acords its members some of the most enjoyable, educative and interesting times, as different views, ideas and outlooks are freely exchanged and discussed on common grounds.

The programs and entertainments that are given speak well for the society and its activities. Special emphasis is laid on encouraging its members in attaining the highest efficiency in the art of expression and literature. The brotherhood, the willingness to learn, and the prevailing spirit of tolerance assure us of the realization of our cherished hopes and ideals.

Webster Oratorical Society

Webster Oratorical Society was organized fourteen years ago by a group of far-sighted men whose purpose was to organize an American Society for oratory and debate. The society was named after Daniel Webster, the great American exponent of this art. Through these years, this original purpose has never been dimmed, nor has Webster ever become a mere literary and social organization. By far the larger number of victorious oratorical contestants have been Websterians. In debate, to know that a man is a Websterian, is to know that he has no equal. For loyal Dubuquers, for four-square men and women, for alumni of whom our Alma Mater is proud, for names that can never be forgotten, read the roll of Webster.

Columbian Literary Society

The interest taken by the High School students in the activities of the Columbian Literary Society has made the year 1923-24 a successful one in the history of the Society.

The object of the Society has been to develop the ability of the individual to appear before the public in music, oratory and debate.

Although the membership has perhaps not reached the standards set in past years, nearly every member has been faithful, and truly interested in the Society and its progress. With such spirit and backing it has forged ahead toward greater and greater accomplishments and has become a large factor in the literary life of the University of Dubuque.

Spanish Club

"Strive for even greater things is our objective." As we glance over the past year's record of achievements we can plainly see that the club has lived up to the ideal set before it at the close of its first year of existence.

The club began to strive for greater things on the first day of the new school year; and it has accomplished things which are worthy of our praise and admiration.

A man is known by the company he keeps; an organization is known by its members. The Spanish club's membership has grown from a modest beginning in the fall of 1922 until now at the end of the year 1924 it ranks probably the highest of any organization of the school in active membership.

The programs given during the past year have surely fulfilled their purpose, that of giving the members of the club an opportunity to express themselves in Spanish, of acquainting members with the various Spanish-speaking countries' problems, and of providing means of entertainment.

The club Español has come into contact, through correspondence, with various other Spanish organizations throughout the country.

The constitution of the club was amended early in the fall of 1923 to read so that the club now meets twice monthly; each meeting, alternately, being given over to a program, or program and social time.

To the indefatigible efforts of our advisor, Professor Bueno, the greatest share of credit is due for the progress that has been made.

Korean Students' Club

It was one of brightest afternoons of last September, when the Korean students met at Kane's Heights and considered the matter of creating an organization through which we might act like a unit and consequently be benefitted as a body, though we were limited to a small number.

It was organized with the idea of promoting fellowship and sociability among its members; to exchange the viewpoints and interpretations of American ideals and institutions; to inform its members of the marching events and thought-currents at our home land, that we would not be behind the times when we get back to serve our fellow countrymen; and finally to do away with the problems such as homesickness and the like which confront us in one way or another.

With these ends in view, we hold our monthly and semi-monthly metings for social, discussion, and information purposes. We as a group have subscribed to the best and representative papers and magazines at home in order to keep pace with the ever enlightening thought movements. We realize, after all, that our success in bringing these ends to a fruitful realization depends upon our spiritual lives. With this understanding, we are keeping on our "Mother tongue prayer meeting" on every Sunday.

We hope that in the future, the new Korean students will come into our club and keep up the good work that so far has been accomplished.

The Facultette

Soon after the University of Dubuque moved up on the hill an organization of the wives and women members of the faculty was formed which became known as the Facultette. For several years at their meetings all the mending was done for the school. Later the Facultette took up the study of foreign and home missions. This work was eventually taken over by the Westminster Church. A large part of the work of the Facultette has been of a missionary character. Boxes have been prepared and sent to the Pima Indians. Needy graduates of the University and their families have been provided for during the period of the S. A. T. C. Mending was again the order of the day and all mending for the student soldiers was done by the Facultette. Since the war the Facultette has been organized primarily as an aid to the President, matron and students of the University. The organization stands ready at all times to aid in the activities of the school. The regular meetings have been largely social. The wife of the President of the University is always the presiding officer. She entertains the first meeting of the college year and appoints committees for each month's entertainment thereafter. These gatherings are held the second Tuesday of each month in Severance Hall Parlor. Occasionally the men of the faculty are entertained. Once each year the Facultette holds a reception for all the girls in the University.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is one of the most active organizations on the campus. Throughout the year the members have shown much interest in the work done under the supervision of Mrs. Torrence. The club has prepared programmes for Chapel services, the Women's Club, the First Presbyterian Church, the Commonweal Club, the Blue and White dinner and Commencement exercises.

The year with Mrs. Torrence has been very enjoyable for the club.

Men's Glee Club

At the opening of the 1923-24 college year, it was a mystery as to who was to lead the vocal department and especially the Men's Glee Club of the University. But this problem was soon solved when Mrs. H. O. Torrence was selected as the head of the music department.

Mrs. Torrence with her winning personality and her skill in directing has moulded a first-class musical organization out of almost entirely new material. Through her efforts the Club may boast of having the largest membership for the past three years.

The interest and enthusiasm that was manifested by the entire organization was crowned with success wherever it performed. It may be safely said that the Men's Glee Club had better attendance than any other organization on the campus. It is open to all male students of the University and its entire interest is in behalf of the school.

The University Band

The University Band for the season 1923 and 1924 was organized in September. Many of the boys formerly associated with the University Band returned to form a nucleus for the present organization. There were also some additions, contributing much to the personnel in the way of talent.

The Band now consists of eighteen members. All have proved loyal and faithful, enabling the organization to be present at all Football games and Basket Ball games.

Before the holiday a concert was given in the Chapel evincing especial talent on the part of the boys. In the month of April a concert was given at Peters Commons which was received by a most enthusiastic audience. The compositions were of a very high standard and were rendered with the utmost precision and accuracy.

Mr. A. F. Bremicker, the director of the band, has been quoted as saying that the present organization may be classified as one of the very best in his four years of service in connection with the University musical organization.

Debates

On February 7 a dual debate was held with Coe College. The Affirmative Team composed of Stanley Bruechert, Doris Rodden, and Garabed Chakerian was at home and lost by a two-to-one decision. The Negative Team composed of Harry Short, Frank Berger, and Uvaldo Martinez won at Coe by a similar vote of the judges.

A second dual debate was held with Luther College on February 20. The Affirmative Team composed of Joseph Poncel, Doris Rodden, and Garabed Chakerian lost at Decorah in a very close debate. The Negative Team consisting of Harry Short, John Meyer, and Uvaldo Martinez won at Dubuque.

On March 5 a third dual debate was held with Upper Iowa University. In this debate the tables were turned, the Affirmative Team, consisting of the same people as in the Luther debate winning at Fayette, the same Negative Team as above, losing in a close debate at Dubuque.

A single debate was held with Macalester College of St. Paul on March 28. Dubuque was represented by an Affirmative Team consisting of Harry Short, Uvaldo Martinez, and Garabed Chakerian. The team showed splendid judgment in meeting the case of the more experienced men from the north and won a merited decision over them. This was the first defeat of the season for the Macalester team.

MAY FETE

ANNETTE ADAMS — Queen of the May

The Varsity May Fete

"All the valley, mother, 'll be fresh and green and still,
And the cowslip and the crowfoot are over all the hill,
And the rivulet in the flowery dale 'll merrily glance and play,
And I'm to be Queen O' the May, mother, I'm to be Queen O' the May."
—The May Queen—Tennyson.

To be crowned Queen of the May!!!

The very thought carries a thrill to every youthful heart and is capable of producing just such an effect as was evidenced by the University student body on the fifteenth of May, 1923. Although the gods seemed, for a time, unfavorable, and the elements threatened to frustrate all plans, the joy of Spring in every heart could not be subdued and was greatly responsible for the production of the First Annual May Fete staged by the University Y. W. C. A.

The stately procession of the May Queen, Annette Adams, with her two pages, Anna Mae French and Daniel Simon; her Maid of Honor, Ilo Gifford; her attendants, Gladys Kraus, Helen Bogue, Doris Baier, and Hulda Hepperle; the Town Crier, William Tee; and the Herald, Maynard Wood, moved slowly from the East Chapel door, across the campus and took their places on the beautifully adorned throne, which was a veritable bower of flowers. They were immediately followed by the May Pole Dancers in costumes, the staff-bearer, Lucille Welch; the crown-bearer, Mary Fracker; the pillow-bearer, Grace Malin; the bouquet-bearer, Doris Rodden, and the Poet Laureate, Joseph Poncel. After these more humble followers had offered their tokens of respect to the Queen, they awaited her pleasure and then retired to allow the presentation of the program which had been planned for her approval.

In anticipation of this happy opportunity, each organization in school had selected its best talent and had prepared such a program number as would be sure to win the Queen's favor. Webster Oratorical Society offered the rendition of a comic song which secured the good nature of everyone and which was a worthy substitute for the Court Jester since it succeeded in bringing a smile to the Queen's face. The dramatization of The Four Seasons by the Academy and Little Boy Blue by Columbian Literary Society won special approval and proved that the Academy Students were not lacking in spirit. Most deserving of praise, however, were the presentation of the fairy scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" by Philophronia Literary Society in which Martha Seymour starred; the dramatization of Mistress Mary by La Tribu and the particularly beautiful butterfly dance by Dorothy Berggren; and the interpretation of "The Awakening of Spring" by Delta Phi Sigma which featured Bess Bradford as soloist.

Probably the most attractive number on the program and the concluding one was the May Pole Dance by the Y. W. C. A. girls. Clad in their daintily colored costumes, they skipped forth from almost everywhere, and in a short time, had proved to everyone not only that they themselves were the embodiment of Spring with all its joys and fancies but also that they were able to impart their spirit to all the world.

And thus, when the end of day had brought to a close this most successful May Fete, there lingered in the hearts of all the participants a warm and comfortable glow of happiness, and the sincere desire to repeat the pleasureable experience.

Varsity Vodvil

On Saturday night, December 15, 1923, McCormick Gymnasium was the scene of one of the most delightful entertainments that was given at the University this year. The success of this performance was due largely to Miss Bess Bradford, chairman of the general committee. The capacity house and persistent applause showed that the efforts of the co-eds to put on a really good vaudeville were heartily appreciated. The program consisted of nine acts, remarkable for their variety and originality.

Mike Szucs started things with some clever dialect readings, assisted by Enno Jansen. This act was followed by the beautiful procession of brides of other days, in which three of the wives of faculty members took part.

A Grecian dance, in which several graceful co-eds took part was one of the features of the program. Miss Bess Bradford, the directress, deserves special commendation for the instruction of these apt pupils. The clever playlet "Who's the Boss" was next presented and was well received. Miss Berenice McCormick and Mr. Frank Berger gave several popular song hits. Miss McCormick proved to be a real entertainer, her voice charming the appreciative audience.

A beautiful Spanish serenade re-opened the program and was followed by some remarkable stunts on the parallel bars by Mr. C. T. Peterson and Mr. Drohomeresky.

The solo dance by Miss Bess Bradford was especially well received, as exhibitions by the graceful dancer always are. Last, but not least, was the schoolroom scene. Mr. Harry Short was a scream as the Dutch schoolmaster, and honors for this act will be equally divided between Harry and Mr. Al Boell the "tough guy." All the members of this cast were very well suited to their parts, however, and the acting was excellent.

The finale, in which all the co-eds took part, was one of the hits of the program. The words of this clever parody were written by Mrs. Torrence, who also directed this number.

The indispensable Campus Nomads were there, as everyone heard, and greatly added, as usual, to the success of the entertainment.

"Come Out of the Kitchen"

Through the Eyes of a Faculty Spectator

The Juniors' presentation of A. E. Thomas' "Come Out of the Kitchen" was in all ways quite the most successful piece of student dramatics the Varsity has produced. The play itself was an excellent choice, full of dramatic surprises and good dialogue, and had several delightfully conceived parts. Then, too, it was well put on, both as to properties and the "business" of the stage.

The cast showed the effects of thorough training and took full advantage of their opportunities. The slowness of acting tempo which is the usual bane of amateur performances was obvious only in the first few awkward minutes; from the fateful moment when Ilo Gifford put on the apron—a veritable "Dresden China" cook—the play went merrily and enchantingly to the marriage bells conclusion desired by the enthusiastic audience. Although it was clearly Ilo's play—her presence always raising the scene to the level of the spectator's fancy—the supporting parts were very well carried.

The Wolves in particular, both Henry and Frederick, were fairly delicious comedians—the male auditor truly envied Henry and his aplomb shattered at times though it had to be. Mary Adelman's chaperon reached high levels of characterization and excelled in both praise and elocution.

Harris Gilbertson looked his role as hero; he carried the heavy part of supporting lead with conscientious interpretation and usually unforced ease. Poet Stanley Bruechert had a delightfully conceived part—one of the marked excellences in the play's construction—and realized very much of what lay in the character, to the delight of his auditors. Ben Hayenga was another evidence of the high training of the caste; his admirably exaggerated butler's pose was a full realization of its possibilities for comedy and never failed to win "the house."

His character as rejected suitor was well understood and carried by Milo Beran. Marjorie Armstrong added to her amusing make-up as black mammy many elements of real human nature. Edna Grieder and Grace Malin did gracefully everything that was possible to do with quite conventional roles, not sufficiently differentiated in the author's conception.

Mr. K. F. Boldt of the city and Henry Wolfe should have the praise earned by the admirable direction and management evident in the stage presentation.

Miriam Luke's jazzy orchestra added undeniably to the evening's entertainment.

Minstrel Show

This year the University Men's Glee Club had introduced an entirely new feature into the campus life. This new feature was recognized in the minstrel, presented by the Glee Club, on October 13, 1923, which date was also celebrated as the Homecoming Day.

The large auditorium of Peters' Commons was filled with students, alumni, and their friends. The sight of the appreciative audience had no small reaction upon the performers as was proved by their excellent stage acting. The Minstrel proper was preceded by "The Coontown Thirteen Club," a one-act play, after which came the opening songs by the entire Men's Glee Club, followed by numerous fresh jokes in Southern dialect. In between these bright sayings were strewn vocal and string solors and quartette selections. The closing number was sung by the entire Glee Club.

The friends of the school showed their appreciation not only through their attendance but their invitation of the Glee Club to repeat the Minstrel at the St. Luke's Auditorium. Their invitation was accepted and the minstrel was repeated twice in one evening.

A great deal of credit is due Mrs. H. O. Torrence, who labored so untiringly to perfect the musical part of the affair, with her piano accompanist, Miss Luke.

Lyceum Course

William Rainey Bennett, one of the greatest dramatic orators of today, lectured in the University Chapel on Monday, November 12. On the lecture platform, Mr. Bennett illustrated the mighty power of a dead-in-earnest optimistic speaker, who possesses a never failingly alert mental equipment. He plunged into the heart of the subject with enthusiasm and with a sweep of vitality, crisp logic and humor, inspired and held his audience. He fired his hearer with a mounting ambition to make use of their opportunities; to use to the utmost their natural abilities. The subject of his lecture was "The Man Who Can."

The second number of the lecture course was given on November 23. "The Climax," a dramatic masterpiece of comedy and music was presented by a capable company of professional players. This play thrilled New York for two seasons and was revived by the Redpath Bureau by the personal co-operation of Edward Locke, who organized and coached the present cast.

On November 27, C. E. W. Griffith read one of Shakespeare's plays, "Twelfth Night." He is the only reader in the world who reads all of Shakespeare's plays, in public every season. Mr. Griffith's renditions are the result of careful and original literary interpretation.

The Russian Cathedral Quartette was the fourth number of the lecture course. They gave us an opportunity to hear true Russian music by Russian singers on January 19. Unique, artistic, magnificent and also, at times, of touching simplicity, were the songs presented by this splendid company.

On March 17, Miss Virginia Slade, impersonator and reader of plays, read a program of short miscellaneous numbers. Miss Slade is from Kentucky and possesses all the charm and refinement for which Southern women are noted.

Much credit is due to Prof. G. H. Mount and Prof. W. Zuker for this splendid lecture course program.

Hallowe'en Party

On the night of October 31, nearly two hundred students attended a delightful Hallowe'en party held in Peters Commons. All of the usual and many unusual and equally thrilling features were used; beginning with our reception by a weird skeleton, stationed at the head of the receiving line as we entered, and continuing throughout a long spook hike through the dark building. We were constantly receiving shocks in the form of wet and clammy articles, spooks, sudden jump-offs, and falling breezes.

After this we adjourned to the basement which was a typical corn-field, with corn-stalks and pumpkins galore. Here we were able to examine the various and fantastic garbs of our friends. The following hour was spent in playing games and indulging in many stunts and it was indeed a bizarre spectacle to see witches, clowns, desert-sheiks, farmers and even old ladies playing side by side, making an odd conglomeration of color and costume.

Later in the evening a committee, composed of members of the faculty and facultette, chose the winners of the prizes for the best costumes. This was accomplished after much deliberation because of the many clever and ingenious costumes. The evening's pleasure was brought to a climax by the forming of a grand march to the refreshment stand, where we were served with pumpkin pie, ice cream and coffee.

The party was truly an all school affair because of the large attendance and the fact that each class had some share in making it a success. The pleasureable entertainment was in charge of the Juniors and Seniors. To the Sophomores was due the credit for the delectable refreshments. The Freshmen displayed their ability as decorators, and to the High School students was given the privilege of cleaning up the next day. All present voted it as one of the best "mixers" of the year.

ACT I.

Scene I.

Time—May 9, 1923.
Place—Dusty road between East Dubuque and Frentress Lake.

A dozen knicker-clad girls hiking at good speed. Sweaters and blankets shifted from shoulder to shoulder. Helyn Miller frequently stops crowd to tell them all about her latest heart-throbs.

Scene II.

Place—Summit Heights Cottage.

Supper! All seated around a large table on the porch of the cottage. Litttle conversation. Vera Fritschel bribes Florence and Sof to pass the potatoes every half minute. Helyn Miller eats eight large pieces of steak. Everybody cheerful and contented.

Scene III.

Mock-wedding. Preceding the bridal pair marches the page, strewing bits of newspaper from the waste basket. The blushing bride enters the porch on the arm of the dignified groom. She is attired in a draped gown and curtain veil. Her bridal bouquet is a spoon holder full of spoons.

A row on the lake. Moonlight and Delta Phi Sigma song.

ACT II.

Scene I.

Breakfast. Bess proves she can cook as well as dance. Pancakes and sausages. Music during all meals; your choice between "Mammy's Little Coal Black Rose" and "Patches."

Beauty parlor opens. Ilo furnishes lemon cream for the crowd. Ilo, Florence and Mary explore the islands and come back with bunches of violets. Grace has already gained five pounds. Experiences difficulties.

Scene II.

Ilo begins to get lonesome. Separated from Brad by three miles of water.

Scene III.

Colder. Huge bonfires. Roasted marshmallows, apples and songs. Inside cottage, fire is lit in living room and hot lemonade is served.

Confidence meeting held. All heart throbs exchanged. Battle over beds and blankets. Florence, Vera, Helyn and Edna drag mattresses out on the porch floor. Shivers—brrr—Edna and Grace go to sleep at 4:30.

ACT III.

Scene I.

Sunday morning. Body guard stationed in kitchen while Helyn Miller eats breakfast. Goodbyes to Helyn. A row across the lake and more violets. Grace and Sof do their hair up in rags in honor of the dinner guest. Their hats blow off while bidding Dr. Bossard welcome.

Scene II.

Dinner—more dinner—exhaustion!

Scene III.

Edna and Mary take a swim in the —50° lake water. Pneumonia and T. B. phophesied.

The Curtain Call.

5:30 Malin's and Parker's cars arrive to take the luggage. One last row on the lake. Edna, Vera, Mary and Florence induce the neighboring cottager to take them for a ride in his motor boat.

Supper—everything that was left. Scramble for belongings.

The Hike Home.

And that's that until next year.

The Annual Prowl

The Annual Prowl

It has long been the custom of the "13" Club to go on an annual hike or prowl. These events have always been of keen enjoyment to the members and the hike of 1923 was no exception.

The time was May 9-11; the place, the Bechtel Cottage at Massey. The general plans were made by the genial and efficient Fotch. Herbie journeyed ahead and had a fine steak supper awaiting the gang when they arrived. To say that our friend Herb is a good cook is putting it mildly.

A few casualties were experienced en route. Sims and Wood, too lazy to walk to the camp, hopped a freight, which when it reached Massey, was going not less than fifty miles per. No, they did not get off. They rode through to Bellevue and walked back, a distance of about fifteen miles. This is only about twice as far as the rest walked in reaching camp. Wilson and Rebol, also lacking the necessary energy to walk, waited until a local train brought them to the spot.

It so happened that a little party was being staged at one of the near-by farms the first night and the gang was invited to attend. This account would not be historically true if it were not recorded that it was in response to Bill Tee's "line" that we received the invitation. It was one of those peculiar parties for which a charge is made and as gold was not plentiful, Bill persuaded the host to give us rates. It is said that if Tee had talked to that farmer a little longer that he would have paid us to attend.

The party went off very nicely. It should be said that Rebol became very popular with the country lasses. It was his figure and graceful movement which attracted them. Dane Wilson was very much at home as the party was held in a barn.

The second night at camp saw a scramble for places to sleep. It is recorded by good authorities that Tee, Fotch, and Welch fill an ordinary bed with but little space to spare.

The work was done by shifts arranged by the general chairman. This worked nicely until everyone had served. It was then necessary to draw for places on an extra round of work. The ballot box was stuffed and "Bottle" Welch was made the victim. What he thought and said has never been made a matter of record. It was something like the famous remark made by "Herb" to Professor Ficke.

Webster Banquet

Webster Oratorical Society held its eighth annual banquet in Peters Commons, March 21, 1924, twenty-one Websterians and three guests being present.

At 7:30 p. m., a four course dinner was served, carrying out the Webster color scheme of black and orange. The program was distinctively Websterian.

Toastmaster—John Buchholz.

Waltz, A Flat major.....Edward Schap
Extracts "The Rivals".....Luella Koether
Brambles.....Wilfred Johannsen
Vocal Duet—"Spring".....Sophia Reinagle, Geo. Hunsinger
Time Tells.....Emma Trenk
Musical Reading, Ev'nin'.....Helen Maxwell
Revue, Letters from Alumni.....Esther Kossack

As toastmaster, Mr. Buchholz, President of the Society, presented a striking appearance, and his informal introduction of each number put everyone at ease. Webster has some of the best musical talent of the University, ably demonstrated by Mr. Schap and Miss Maxwell. Miss Koether, reading three scenes from Richard Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," gave a realistic interpretation of those famous characters, Mrs. Malaprop and Sir Anthony.

Mr. Johannsen displayed a hitherto unknown role, that of delightful humorist. His "Brambles" while caricatures of a number of Websterians, were pleasant, with accounts of their talents, not at all sharp. Our Websterians from St. Louis were as harmonious as usual in their vocal duet.

"Time Tells," said Emma Trenk "that Webster is fulfilling the dreams of its founders, and has a splendid future in store." She traced the history of Webster from its organization in 1912 as the first all-American society on the campus, naming some of the outstanding members, famous in oratory, debate, and school spirit. The first banquet was held in 1914 in connection with Webster Day; with two exceptions, this has been an annual event, a prominent social feature of campus life.

Special invitations had been sent to the alumni of Webster to attend this eighth banquet. Although only one was able to be present, a number sent greetings and expressed their appreciation of what Webster had done for them. These letters were read by Miss Kossack.

The tables were laid with covers for twenty-four guests. Orange candles and programs, jonquils, ferns and individual favors on the tables, ferns, palms and pennants placed about the room, added to the natural charm of the cafeteria where the banquet was held. Mrs. Elizabeth Adams was guest of honor; other guests being Fred Jungk, and Leon Whitehead, alumnus.

President's Reception

One of the most important events of the social season was the reception given by Dr. and Mrs. Steffens in honor of Dr. Wettstone, our new president, and Mrs. Wettstone, on January 8, at Peters' Commons.

From 8 until 10 o'clock, students of the University, faculty members and their wives, alumni, and friends of the University were introduced to Dr. and Mrs. Wettstone. In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Steffens, Dr. and Mrs. Wettstone, Dr. and Mrs. Grieder, Dr. and Mrs. Fracker, and Professor and Mrs. Welch.

The dainty decorations both in the receiving room and in the refreshment room truly reflected the daintiness of our beloved Mrs. Steffens. Soft pink and green everywhere, quiet mellow candle-light, fragrant flowers and sweet music lent a charm which made all unwilling to leave. It truly will be a pleasant memory to cherish.

Biology Hike

The Biology Hike of 1923 will be remembered by the class as the one bright spot in the years' intimate associations with frogs and earthworms. On one of the finest days of late May, the class drove to a very familiar and beautiful spot on the Hawkeye. The more ambitious spent several hours in a deeper pursuit of the phenomena of nature and captured as a reward one black snake, a bird's nest and a fish or two. Those more fond of the aesthetic came back to the camp-ground with armfuls of wild flowers, while the would-be athletes enlisted in an exciting game of base-ball. Although different in the nature of the enjoyment chosen, about six o'clock the entire class felt a common bond of hunger draw them together. At dusk, when all the contents of the picnic baskets had been devoured and all the stories and songs given their due, the party left for home, each one grateful for another happy memory to his collection of college good times.

Ask Me! Ask Me!

DEAR GRACE:

Where can I get a picture of Leroy Loemker? He is my favorite actor. —FLORENCE PARKER.

Answer—Send ten cents and a stamped envelope to the nearest Rogue's Gallery.

DEAR GRACE:

What company is Cloy Meiske in now? Isn't he wonderful? —EDNA.

Answer—Mostly in mine. I certainly think he is. Write again.

DEAR MISS MALIN:

Do you think Mae Murray would answer if I wrote to her? Aren't her gowns alluring? —GLENN.

Answer—From what I hear, Miss Murray is keeping up a steady correspondence with one of last year's graduates. I think your chances are slim. Can't remember ever seeing very much of her gowns.

DEAR GRACIE:

Can you give me Thelma Hauritz's address? Wasn't she a pippin' in "Loving Lies"? If you are unable to obtain her address send me that of some other blonde.

—PONCEL.

Answer—Miss Hauritz is touring Europe at present and consequently has no permanent address. Am unable to print names, but on receipt of a stamped envelope will send you that of a famous blonde of Sibley, Iowa.

DEAR GRACE:

To what does Stanley Bruechert attribute his success in filmdom? Surely he must work under the force of some great inspiration? —VERA.

Answer—Mr. Bruechert claims that his long and frequent walks from Wartburg Avenue to Severance Hall under the myriads of stars have been the secret source of inspiration.

DEAR GRACE:

Do you think I can find my soul-mate in the movies? I have searched everywhere in Dubuque, St. Louis and Centralia. —FRANCIS A. BERGER.

Answer—Try the comedies! Good luck.

"The Store With A Vision"

ALL great things, be they schools of learning, Christian institutions, large mercantile establishments or pretentious manufacturing plants in which turn the wheels of industry — all have their inception through vision, are maintained through vision and forge ahead through this mighty force that is so vague that one cannot grasp it, yet so powerful that it can accomplish no end of wonderful achievements — even a re-establishment of earthly customs.

—This intricate force has been the inspiration of our store for the past thirty years — it has made itself manifest upon many occasions — it has laid the golden apple of success into our laps and beckons to us from still greater heights

—Ours is a business career fraught with a vision for your well being, one which had a vision for the older inhabitants of Dubuque and one which had a vision for coming generations.

—Vision is the handmaiden of education—education, the handiwork of vision —thus, created by its own forces and appropriated to its own effectiveness, no student should hide himself from it and those who are to be the most fortunate in life's journey are sure to follow in its wake.

A business training shows you how to apply what you have learned during your school years.

DIAMOND'S GRILLE

Dubuque's Beautiful Cafeteria and Soda Grille downstairs in Dubuque's finest office building—Federal Bank Building

In most every city there is one dining place that is known far and wide for its fine quality of food, usually it is some high priced restaurant or hotel.

But in Dubuque THE DIAMOND GRILLE has earned that distinction at moderate prices.

Our portions are large and cost less than one usually pays elsewhere for the same item — this is typical of the amazing food values you get here.

Folks who love good food or good ice cream often tell us they cannot get anything as good elsewhere at any price.

It really makes no difference what you want to eat or when at the DIAMOND GRILLE, from an early breakfast to an "after Theatre bite" you get the finest food and ice cream in the land at prices which prove that you do get more for your money here.

This is one Restaurant and Ice Cream Parlor where children are always welcome.

$1 DOWN and $1 a Week buys the finest of a WATCH or DIAMOND.

ACHIEVEMENT
The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.
The mission of all advertising illustrations is to produce sales and the growth of this firm has been measured by the success its customers have had in obtaining new business thru using "J&O picture salesmen."
Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).
Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.

All Good Things Are Three ---

This, the third volume of THE KEY to be produced by our organization, is a fit companion book for its two predecessors. We have added a little touch of artistry throughout the book, in the shape of border and ornamentation, not too conspicuously, but rather harmoniously.

These little things, not much in the aggregate, yet pleasing in the finished appearance, make the printed volume stand out from the ordinary. The message they convey is that price is not the only consideration in a job of printing—satisfaction afterwards is worth a whole lot more.

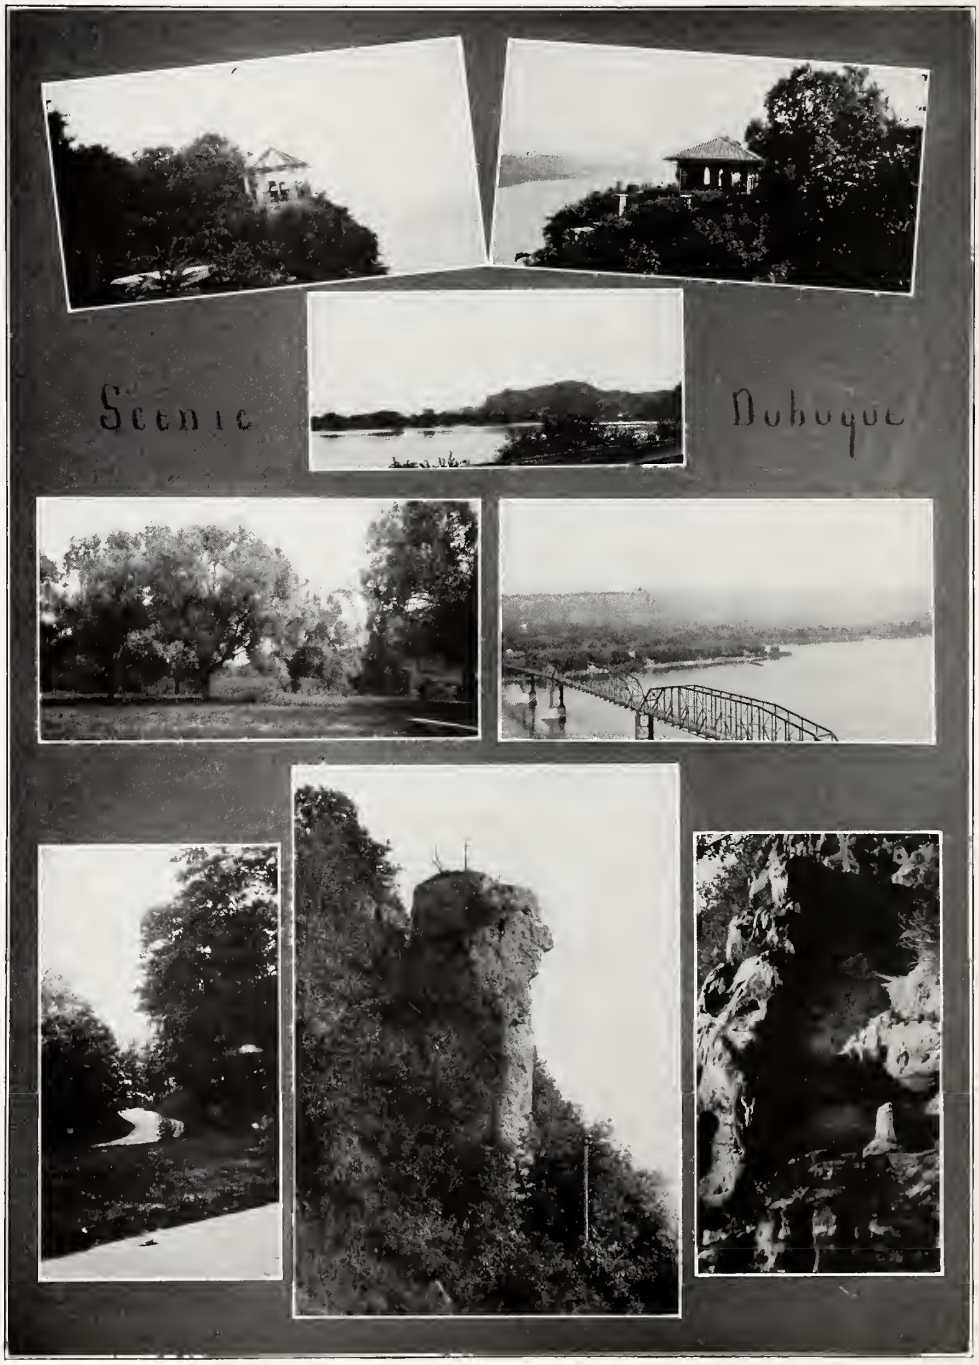

Tell us your printing problems—whether a modest little calling card or a volume of this type and character—it's all in the year's work and we aim always at customer satisfaction. Friends for next year are as essential as getting out this year's work.

The biggest concerns of Dubuque have been our customers for many years—that tells a story of getting results for them.
